P = Picture Book for Older Readers

N = Next Steps

Anholt, Laurence - Cinderella at the Vampire Ball
Part of the Seriously Silly Scary Fairy Tales series. Fun text accompanied by illustrations which are just right for building reading confidence. A winning formula.

CF

Atinuke - Anna Hibiscus series
No. 1 Car Spotter series

Both of these series are set in Africa and are a delight to read. Lots of great illustrations accompany the text.

CF

Bartram, Simon - Up for the Cup!

A must for all football fans as the author has packed in so much to see in the illustrations.

Bently, Peter - Knightmare Damsel Disaster!

Cedric the beginner knight has to train a guard dog for Sir Percival, with interesting results. Large typeface and short chapters with lots of illustrations make this series an ideal introduction to free readers. Very funny as well!

CF

Brown, Judy - Petbots series

Good series for those wanting a slightly longer chapter book but still retains illustrations. Three robot pets find a home in a school.

CF

Campbell, James - Boyface series

For all Mr Gum fans this is another zany series about a 10 year old boy. Never a dull moment in these books.

CF

Corderoy, Tracey - Hubble Bubble series

Three short stories in these books which follow on from the picture book characters. Lively illustrations accompany the text making a very attractive production.

CF

Cowell, Cressida - How to Train your Dragon series

The first in the series and now available as 2 films. Meet the dragon-flying Vikings as their greatest leader Hiccup Horrendous Haddock III recounts his teenage years when he learnt to become a great leader. Good for descriptive language, humour and PSHE themes.

CF

Day, Susie - Pea's Book of Holidays

This series follows the adventures of Pea (11) and her sisters as they move house, go on holiday etc. Mum is a famous author. A very likeable and appealing character.

CF

Daywalt, Drew - The Day the Crayons Quit

The crayons are on strike as they are fed up being used to draw the same characters. Read the letters from the colourful crayons and see if you agree with them!

Gaiman, Neil - Fortunately, the Milk

CF

Fantasy story written by this award winning author. Dad goes out to get the milk and is gone a long time. On his return he tells this fantastic story about why he was so long. Do they believe him? Wonderful imagination.

Gale, Emily - Eliza Boom's Diary series

CF

An inventor and trainee spy Eliza is always busy. Follow her in these wacky adventures.

Harper, Poppy - Maisie Mae series

CF

Maisie Mae has 5 brothers and these stories are about her family life. Great characters that make children want to keep reading. Lots of fun and just a nice length of story so as not to be off-putting.

Healey, Tim - Mortimer Keene series

CF

A great series about an 8 year old inventor. The text rhymes and the illustrations by Chris Mould are fascinating.

Higgins, Chris - My Funny Family series

Meet Mattie a natural born worrier who has lists for everything. A warm family series

CF

Huggins-Cooper, Lynn - How Big is 43 Quintillion?

Fascinating maths book. Presented in a magazine style format. It helps the understanding of big numbers by relating them to everyday situations.

CF

Lennon, Joan - Leif Frond series

Find out more about the Vikings in these stories about Leif. The smallest in his family, he is constantly trying to prove how brave he is.

CF

McAllister, Angela - Winter's Child

A magical tale both for the story and the illustrations. The boy plays with the child that brings winter and they don't want to stop as they are having such fun. But the wood is running out and Spring needs to come to the earth. Will he be brave enough to say goodbye?

MacDonald, Alan - Superhero School series

CF

Set in a school for trainee superheroes these stories are full of fun and adventure. Illustrations accompany the text and add to the humour.

Meddour, Wendy - How the Library (not the Prince) Saved Rapunzel

Y

An alternative version of Rapunzel told in a rhyming text. In this story she discovers the public library and has no need to rely on a prince. Perfect for all budding librarians!

Meddour, Wendy - Wendy Quill series

CF

The Wendy Quill books are a real treat. She is funny, also a worrier and a character everyone will enjoy. The text is broken up with drawings and the font size changes to reflect moods etc. Very inventive.
